Specialisms

Administrative and Public Law

Ishaani undertakes work, led and unled, for the MoJ, Public Law and SASO team, through the Attorney General's Panel of Counsel. Ishaani was appointed to the B Panel in 2024.

Ishaani works heavily with individual claimants, charities and NGOs. Most recently, she assisted as part of a team in the compilation of an expert report, for a foreign court, on the principle of non- refoulement as a norm of customary international law. She assisted in a team acting as amicus in a South American court on issues concerning the right to work under international law. She intervened in the US Supreme Court on behalf of the UK FCDO in a case concerning a UK national facing the death penalty, the intervention addressing the right to a fair trial. She intervened in the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS) Court of Justice on behalf of Media Legal Defence Initiative, addressing freedom of expression. She has advised and appeared in cases concerning the free movement of persons under Directive 2004/38/EC and the Immigration Regulations 2006, before the Social Security and Immigration and Asylum Tribunal.

Ishaani acted as one of a team of counsel in the Kenyan Emergency Group Litigation brought by over 40,000 claimants. She assisted in drafting individual defences, preparing cross-examination of test claimants and medical experts, as well as researching historical legislation, limitation issues and questions of international law.

Ishaani has contributed, since inception, to the Annual Rule of Law Forum for South Eastern Europe, which is supported by the UK FCDO, and attending by ECtHR judges, and all levels of the judiciary, lawyers and NGO workers from Albania, Bosnia, Croatia, Kosovo, North Macedonia, Montenegro and Serbia.

Ishaani has written the following publications, presented before the Forum:

- Freedom of Expression and its Relationship with the Right to Respect for Private Life and the Right to a Fair
- Trial: The jurisprudence of the ECtHR (2017)
- The Prohibition against Torture and Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment: The jurisprudence of the ECtHR (2018)
- Children's Rights: The jurisprudence of the ECtHR (2019). This overview addresses rights under EU law and the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, as given effect to by ECtHR jurisprudence, in the areas of domestic violence, custody, criminal justice, asylum, trafficking, and access to court.
- Balancing data protection with transparent justice – Chapter 5: The right to be forgotten and the right to erasure (2023).

Employment

Ishaani undertakes a range of High Court and employment tribunal work.

Ishaani has a particular expertise in modern slavery claims, and has provided advice and representation to claimants in High Court and Tribunal proceedings. She successfully represented the claimant in Wong v Basfar [2022] UKSC 20, a landmark decision in which the Supreme Court found that a claim by a domestic worker, against a diplomat, for wages and breaches of employment rights could not be defeated by diplomatic immunity where the domestic worker was working in circumstances of modern slavery. The conduct by the diplomat was held to constitute the exercise of a commercial activity, thus falling within an exception to diplomatic immunity under Article 31 of the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations 1961.

Ishaani has advised extensively on equal pay, including the provision of advice to a broadcaster on an ongoing basis, over several months.

Ishaani regularly appears as sole counsel in multi-day hearings. Recent cases have involved complex issues of territorial jurisdiction, applicable law, and anonymity/privacy orders, as well as whistleblowing, and sex and race discrimination.

Ishaani has been instructed in matters in the High Court concerning industrial action and restrictive covenants.
