Specialisms

Commercial

Sophie has a wide-ranging commercial practice with a particular focus on high value business protection disputes, company and partnership disputes and commercial contract issues. Sophie is known for her work in the financial services sector, acting for major investment banks, brokers and insurance companies. She has extensive expertise in team move cases and claims of breach of confidence and breach of contract. She frequently advises and acts in disputes in relation to share purchase agreements, shareholder agreements, the construction of partnership agreements and claims of breach of fiduciary duties against directors.

Sophie is also accustomed to appearing in civil fraud claims including conspiracy claims, misappropriation of proprietary information and the taking of secret profits and bribes and has in-depth expertise in relation to the grant of urgent injunctive relief including delivery up and search orders.

Sophie advises and acts in insurance matters, including the construction of insurance policy wordings, breach of warranty claims, avoidance of policies of insurance for misrepresentation and non-disclosure and claims under the Third Parties (Rights Against Insurers) Act 1930. Click here to read an article by Sophie (with Alison Padfield) concerning the potential restrictions on the dismissal of employees who are in receipt of benefits under group PHI policies. She also has significant specialist expertise in relation to professional negligence disputes involving professional advisers, including surveyors, accountants, brokers, financial advisers and solicitors.

Notable cases include:

- X (a global commodities broker) v C, G and others (2016), QBD: Acted on behalf of the employer in relation to a team move, seeking an injunction to restrain breaches of express and implied terms of the defendants' contracts of employment and breach of post-termination restrictive covenants.

- A v C, A (an insurer) (2014-2015), CC: Acted for an insurance company in relation to policy coverage.
- G v X(a healthcare provider) (2013), QBD: Obtained an interim injunction to restrain the employer from dismissing the employee in order to preserve her entitlement to benefit.
- J v X (a law firm) (2013-2014): Advised the proposed claimant partner in respect of her entitlement to payment of permanent health insurance benefit in circumstances where there was no express entitlement to benefit in the contract of employment.

Employment

Sophie advises and represents clients in the Employment Tribunal, the High Court and the appellate courts. Her practice encompasses all aspects of employment law including high value discrimination and whistleblowing claims. She is experienced in complex litigation in particular urgent applications for injunctive relief and claims in the High Court relating to confidential information, restraint of trade and breach of fiduciary duties. She has conducted sensitive internal investigations involving staff at a senior level in high profile organisations. Sophie is also known for her specialist expertise in employment-related insurance disputes. She has extensive experience of advising and representing clients in the financial services sector, including investment banks and brokers.

Whistleblowing

Sophie is highly sought after in high profile whistleblowing cases. She has dealt with numerous complex multi-million pound disputes, both as sole counsel and as junior to leading silks at the Bar. She has exceptional expertise in disputes in the financial sector, which frequently involve commercially sensitive matters and external regulatory issues. She is accustomed to being involved from an early stage, and has substantial experience of applications at short notice for interim relief, specific disclosure applications and strike out applications. Sophie was recently invited to speak at the ELA Annual Conference 2016 on the subject of whistleblowing.

Notable cases include:

- C v X (a worldwide broadcasting organisation) (2017): High profile claim against media organisation by senior reporter alleging protected disclosure in respect of alleged political influence and sex discrimination. Sophie successfully sought strike-out of the claim mid-way through the hearing.
- C v X (a major financial institution) (2015-2016): High profile whistleblowing claim by a senior trader. The claim for £4.25 million involved allegations of serious financial irregularities of a highly sensitive nature.
- C v X (a major financial institution) and others (2015-2016): Acting for two respondents in a multi-week whistleblowing claim by a global head against the trading division of an investment bank.
- W v X (an NGO in the finance industry) (2015-2016): Defended an application for interim relief in a high value claim.
- G and D v X (a major financial institution) (2012): Led by Chris Jeans KC in a multi-million pound claim involving senior individuals in the trading division of a major financial institution.

Discrimination and equal pay

Sophie has extensive experience of all areas of discrimination (in particular sex, race, disability, religion and belief and sexual orientation) and equal pay. She often acts for well-known companies, and is accustomed to appearing in multi-week hearings involving all forms of discrimination, including claims of direct and indirect discrimination, victimisation and harassment. She also acts in the civil courts in discrimination claims in the services sector.

Notable cases include:

- C v X (a worldwide broadcasting organisation) (2017): High profile claim against media organisation by senior reporter alleging protected disclosure in respect of alleged political influence and sex discrimination. Sophie successfully sought strike-out of the claim mid-way through the hearing.
- M v X (a major investment bank) (2016): High profile multi-million pound claim of race discrimination against senior traders at city investment bank
- J v X (a national newspaper group) (2015-2016): Claim involving extensive allegations of age discrimination, sex discrimination, harassment and victimisation at the offices of a national newspaper group.
- T v X (a technology firm) (2014-2015): Heavily contested race and sex discrimination claim in which the statutory defence was invoked.
- H v X (a major international airline) (2014-2015): Long-running disability discrimination claim by a pilot involving allegations of direct discrimination, disability-related discrimination and failure to make reasonable adjustments.

Individual and collective employment rights

Sophie advises employers and employees on all aspects of the employment relationship, including flexible and part-time working and the Working Time Regulations (including holiday issues), unlawful deductions from wages, pensions, and the legal aspects of business restructuring, including TUPE and redundancies (individual and collective). Sophie is regularly instructed in relation to issues arising out of the termination of employment, including bonus disputes, breach of contract, unfair dismissal and redundancy. Sophie has also been instructed in significant industrial action disputes.

Notable cases:

- E and others v X (major port operator) and others (2014): High stakes multi-party TUPE action for leading port operator following transfer of services to a new location.
- B and others v X (leading car manufacturer) (2012): Case involving wide-scale collective redundancies, with a series of multi-week hearings.
- Associated British Ports v Bridgeman [2012] IRLR 639: Led by Bruce Carr KC in this complex case involving a consideration of rest breaks and daily rest provided for by the Working Time Regulations 1998. The EAT made a reference to the European Court Justice (case then settled).
- BA cabin crew litigation (2011/12): Sophie dealt with a number of cases linked to the high profile BA cabin crew industrial action.

Evidence/procedure

Sophie frequently advises on procedural and evidential issues arising in the course of litigation including disclosure, privilege, costs and jurisdictional matters, including the territorial jurisdiction of the Employment Tribunal, choice of forum (Employment Tribunal/High Court), time points, illegality, employee status and issue estoppel.

Notable cases:

- K v X (a major construction firm) (2010-2014): Having successfully defended a whistleblowing claim (led by Bruce Carr KC), Sophie (acting alone) obtained a costs award believed to be the highest made by the employment tribunal (of nearly £500,000).
- C v X (international facilities management provider) (2016): One of a series of cases in which Sophie was instructed concerning the territorial jurisdiction of the employment tribunal in relation to an overseas British military base.
- C v X (a financial institution) (2016): Case involving complex issues of privilege.

High court including injunctions

Sophie has specialist expertise in cases of restraint of trade and urgent interim relief. She regularly advises in high value disputes involving directors, senior employees and competitors. She has extensive experience of team move litigation and claims of breach of confidence and breach of fiduciary duties against directors and senior executives. She also acts and advises in high value contractual claims including bonus, partnership and shareholder disputes.

Notable cases:

- X (a global commodities broker) v C, G and others (2016), QBD: Acted on behalf of the employer in relation to a team move, seeking an injunction to restrain breaches of express and implied terms of the defendants' contracts of employment and breach of post-termination restrictive covenants.
- A (an insurer) v F (2015-2016), TCC: Acted for an insurance company in relation to a claim for clawback of commission payments.
- X (a media company) v J and others (2015), QBD: Acted for defendants in relation to an application for an injunction in the media sector against former employees for breach of contract, misuse of confidential information and infringement of copyright.
- X (a property development company) v W and others (2014-2015), QBD: High value claim relating to the diversion of corporate opportunities, including a £39 million property development, by a de facto director and others. The claim involved claims of breaches of fiduciary duties, misuse of confidential information and conspiracy to injure by unlawful means.
- I-P v X (a major investment bank) (2014-2016), QBD: Ongoing breach of contract and negligent misstatement claim by the former employee of a major investment bank relating to the provision of a reference to prospective employers.

Employment-related insurance

Sophie has particular expertise in relation to employment-related insurance. She advises in relation to permanent health insurance (PHI) policies and other group policies including group life assurance policies. She has obtained High Court injunctive relief preventing the dismissal of an employee entitled to PHI benefits. Sophie has given seminars to employment and insurance firms in this specialist area.

Notable cases:

- P v X (an engineering consultancy) (2016): Acting and advising in relation to a dispute regarding group life assurance and group income protection.
- Re an insurer (2015): Advised insurer in relation to coverage under an employment practices liability policy.
- G v X(a healthcare provider) (2013), QBD: Obtained an interim injunction to restrain the employer from dismissing the employee in order to preserve her entitlement to benefit.
- J v X (a law firm) (2013-2014): Advised the proposed claimant partner in respect of her entitlement to payment of permanent health insurance benefit in circumstances where there was no express entitlement to benefit in the contract of employment.

Restrictive covenants and injunctions

Sophie has specialist expertise in cases of restraint of trade and urgent interim relief. She regularly advises in high value disputes involving directors, senior employees and competitors. She has extensive experience of team move litigation and claims of breach of confidence and breach of fiduciary duties against directors and senior executives. She has obtained High Court injunctive relief preventing the dismissal of an employee entitled to PHI benefits.

Notable cases:
