Juliet is a sought-after junior with a wide-ranging practice spanning public law, commercial law, group litigation, international law, and costs and litigation funding. Many of her cases involve issues at the intersection of those areas.

She is ranked as a leading junior in Chambers & Partners and Legal 500, and is a member of both the Attorney General's C panel and specialist Public International Law panel.

Juliet is often instructed in high profile and complex litigation, regularly undertaking work beyond her level of call. The legal directories describe her as "fiercely intelligent", "a fantastic oral advocate", "fearless and robust", "clinical and incisive", "intellectually rigorous and extremely hard-working", "technically astute", "very impressive and intelligent", "an excellent professional" and "detail-oriented, sharp and assertive". She often works as part of a team in heavy litigation, and has been described as "very friendly" and "manag[ing] to raise every team member to her level of expectation and quality".

> She is an excellent advocate with an ability to explain complex or unusual points in a clear, succinct and persuasive manner. Her technical knowledge is fantastic

Expertise

Group Litigation

Juliet has a thriving group litigation practice, including competition law claims, environmental damages claims, and public law claims by test claimants.

She has a particular interest in collective proceedings claims under the Consumer Rights Act 2015, which she has taught on Oxford University's BCL course. Her chapter on collective redress in Zuckerman on Civil Procedure: Principles of Practice (4th Ed. Sweet & Maxwell, 2021) was cited by the Supreme Court in Lloyd v Google LLC [2021] UKSC 50 in support of the Court's interpretation of the 'same interest' requirement in representative actions.

She is currently advising on possible reforms to the UK's class action regime as part of a working group of practitioners and academics convened by the Collective Redress Lawyers Association (CORLA).

Munícipio de Mariana & Ors v BHP Group Plc & Anr

instructed on behalf of more than 700,000 Brazilian claimants (including individuals, municipalities, businesses, and the Catholic Church) in proceedings brought against BHP Group following the collapse of the Fundão Dam in November 2015.

Viegas, Sanches & Others v Cutrale & Others

acting for around 1,500 Brazilian orange juice farmers in Commercial Court proceedings arising out of an alleged cartel in the orange juice export market in Brazil, led by Alain Choo-Choy KC and Andrew Fulton KC.

Re Mandatory Hotel Quarantine

advising on a prospective group claim for Human Rights Act and unlawful detention damages, arising out of the government's policy of mandatory hotel quarantine for travellers returning to the UK from Red List countries during the Covid-19 pandemic.
